About the Owners

Greg and Rhonda Caldwell, the founders and owners of Advanced Educational Services, LLC, (AES) are committed to ensuring the academic success of all students, including those in need of assistance and those who are looking to be challenged to reach even higher levels. Supported by their extensive team of experienced tutors, Rhonda and Greg take pride in helping elementary, middle school, and high school feel good about their abilities and realize their full potential. As a smaller, owner-managed tutoring company, AES is able to offer highly personalized and focused attention to each student.

Rhonda is a certified elementary school teacher who brings a wealth of creativity to the learning process. She is also a dynamic facilitator with more than 15 years of experience in private industry and academia. She has been a tutor as well as a workshop facilitator and is enthusiastic in combining both experiences to enhance student learning. Rhonda has designed and facilitated general education and diversity-related programs for executive, management, and on-management professionals. She often serves as a presenter for groups focused on advancing opportunities for youth and improving corporate culture for minorities.

Greg has more than 15 years of experience in the telecommunications industry, for many years as a manager. His management and business expertise, research skills, and analytical skills are invaluable to the daily operations at AES.
